His father, Damodardas Mulchand Modi, was a tea seller, and his mother, Heeraben Modi, was a homemaker. Narendra was the third of six children in the family. Growing up in a modest household, Modi faced the typical struggles of a small-town family. Despite economic hardships, he was an active and curious child, showing early signs of leadership and a keen interest in social issues. His childhood experiences in Vadnagar played a significant role in shaping his worldview and future ambitions.

Early Education and Interests

Modi completed his primary education in Vadnagar and was a diligent student. He developed a keen interest in reading and spirituality during his school years. At the age of 17, Narendra Modi left his home and traveled across India, engaging in spiritual pursuits and seeking greater understanding of social and political issues. This period of wandering, often referred to as his "sanyas" phase, lasted for about two years. During this time, he visited various religious sites and learned about different cultures and philosophies. This phase was crucial for Modi as it deepened his spiritual inclinations and broadened his perspective on societal challenges.
